Dear Mrs. Rubinstein,

Thank you so very much for your note.

Of course I did not think you rude for not having answered my June letter! I knew it was a chance to take, not knowing if you'd really be in Paris when it arrived, etc..

I am disappointed in not having been able to include your answer to the party question. But perhaps you will be just as happy not to be in the article! It comes out in the November issue, I believe.

In about another month I hope to do another question-answer article - this time on a more serious note. Perhaps I may write you then to see if the question interests you enough?

Again my thanks for writing. It wasn't necessary, but it was much appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

Nancy Hyden Woodward
