Dear Nella —

No news is good news and I hope that by now your beloved Arthur is out of danger. I only hope that in my own distress by letter to you last week was not an added worry to you. Let me know how you all are when you have time.

For some time at present only makes things worse and it is quite impossible as I'm sure you remember to try and believe that I'm writing this is not going to walk in the door again — I altered his above all else and find life at present quite insupportable.

What a happy thought is our chance with you that Sunday evening in New York.

Please give my love to Arthur
