Dear Maestro and Mrs Rubinstein

A few weeks ago when I was in Paris I telephoned you but gathered that you were away in Marbella. I was very disappointed not to see you both and, indeed, have felt very sorry not to have seen you over the past months. However, whenever I see or speak with Annabelle I have good reports that you are both fit, well and happy.

The other day at the concert of HENRYK SZERYNG I met Annabelle's mother who mentioned that there was a possibility of your being in London in the not too distant future. I wonder if I might have the pleasure of visiting you at the Savoy when you are over? I should very much like to see and hear your recent news.

I know you will be very pleased to know that over the past three years London Artists has gone from strength to strength - albeit with a continually reducing list so that now we look after only half a dozen artists, as well as one or two youngsters.

I very much hope to see you soon.

With very best wishes to you both

As ever, Much love

Michael

Dear Michael:

What a shame that I was not in Paris when you were here, but I do intend to come to London for a short visit during the month of November & of course will let you know promptly when it will be. I shall stay in Westcliff at the Savoy & have a big talk. You will have to tell me all about your activities & I might suggest some little ideas of my own. It is sad that I could not play as I promised in your film the famous Pt. in Act of Bill Shakespeare's memory. With a friendly hug yours

Dear Michael:

What a shame that I was not in Paris when you were here, but I do intend to come to London for a short visit during the month of November and of course will let you know previously when it will be.

I shall stay as usual at the Savoy and have a big talk. You will have to tell me all about your activities, and I might suggest some little ideas of my own. It is sad that I couldn't play as I promised in your town the famous Stratford on Avon of Bill Shakespeare's memory.

With a friendly hug, yours

Arthur Rubinstein.
