Dearest Nela:

Enclosed is a copy of the article I wrote on you for THE INTERNATIONAL REVIEW OF FOOD AND WINE.

If there is anything you want changed, I will be back in New York on the 2nd of January and since the magazine did not give me a firm scheduling date, I will be happy to draft a letter to them with changes at that time. The article, I have been told, will not run in the February issue but "at a future (unspecified) date" -- whatever that means.

They insist that your recipes for the dinner be tested in the magazine's test kitchen so I can only assume there will be changes here and there. I found the crust recipe for the lemon pie did not come out correctly when I tested it here at home so called Eva who gave me her version of the crust.

Hope you are pleased with it, Nela, and both Jason and I wish you the very best and look forward to possibly seeing you again before you return to Europe.

Best,

Leslie
