My dear Galve:

I was very happy to hear that you are in Paris.

I have today written to Maitre Pierre Derveaux, the Chef and President of the Orchestre Colonne, and suggested you as the soloist for the February 28th concert which I am to conduct. Maitre Derveaux wrote to me several weeks ago saying that a soloist (a violinist whose name escapes me at the moment) had been arranged. However, I suggested that, if their commitment permits, perhaps they could have you as co-soloist. I hope it works out. Please let me know if you hear anything direct.

I, in turn, shall write you as soon as I hear.

With warm personal regards,

Cordialmente

~~Sincerely,~~

José

P.S. I have also had a very nice letter from Monsieur Bernard Gavoty on your behalf, and have written to him today to see if he can also contact Colonne regarding this date.
